Letter from the ED

The Kulika Training Center in Lutisi has throughout 2015 held trainings for farmers- mainly in piggery, tree and vegetable nursery bed establishment and management.

The Center has also hosted workshops, and different groups have visited our demonstration gardens and learnt from the center. We had Lutheran World Federation (LWF), Kampala International School Uganda (KISU) and Participatory, Ecological Land Use and Management PELUM Uganda.

Patricia gets award on Independence Day

On 9 October at celebrations marking Uganda's 53rd Independence Anniversary, Patricia received a National Award (Golden Jubilee Award) for her contribution towards building Uganda. The award was received on her behalf by her brother, Thomas Brenninkmeyer.

In 1981 Patricia set up Kulika Uganda. It was a charitable trust based in the U.K that later moved its operations to Uganda. In 2005, all operations were formally handed over to the Uganda office.

We are very proud that Patricia has received this prestigious and well deserved recognition for her self-giving and inspiring life. We are honored to continue her work in empowering Ugandans and educating in sustainable organic agriculture.

YIELD: Youth Project in Lira and Oyam

Kulika Uganda received funding from International Labour Organisation (ILO) with which we implemented the Youth, Innovation, Empowerment and Livelihood Development (YIELD) project in Oyam and Lira. The project ran from July to September 2015, and was targeted at 400 youth.

The youth formed 10 groups and trained in bakery, wine making and juice making. Many have gone on to form group business and made cakes for the festive season.

The biggest challenge is the lack of regulation of food standards since all of them are dealing with food items.

Okello treats farming like a business

Okello Richard, 35, owns 15 acres of land of which 10 are under use. He grows soyabean, sunflower and maize.

When he joined the Kulika programme, he learnt that he could increase his yield with simple agricultural practices like use of organic sprays, timely weeding and crop management. He also started treating his farming as a business and stopped relying on family labour.

Now he has money in his pocket to change diet, pay fees and any medical bills for the family.
